FIGHT TO KEEP REPUBLICAN NAMES OFF BALLOT

DEMOCRATS FORMALLY PROTEST

Maui Candidates Declared to Have Erred in Filing Nomination Papers

Making a sudden and strategic political move, the Democratic party of the territory has attacked the right of the Maui Republican candidates to have their names placed on the official ballot that will be presented to the voters in November.

A formal protest was filed today with Secretary of the Territory Mott-Smith by Chairman M. C. Pacheco of the Democratic territorial central committee, whose signature bears also the statement that he is a citizen and a taxpayer of the territory. This protest sets forth that the Maui candidates failed, when they filed their nomination papers, to make out the papers in accordance with Act 67 of the session laws of 1911. That it is held, makes it obligatory on the candidate filing to state by what political party he is nominated, or in non-partisanship, as the case may be.

Confident that they have a clear case of negligence against the Maui Republican candidates, the Democrats are prepared to carry the fight into the courts and if necessary to sue for an injunction preventing the appearance of these candidates' names on the official ballot. Attorney J. L. Coke and Judge A. A. Wilder have been secured to represent the party in the legal skirmish which is prophesied.

The protest filed with Secretary Mott-Smith today is as follows:

Honolulu, October 12, 1912.
Hon. E. A. Mott-Smith, Secretary of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Dear Sir:—As chairman of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee and as a citizen and taxpayer of this Territory, I hereby protest against the placing upon the official ballot to be issued by you for the coming election, to wit, the November, 1912, general election of the Territory of Hawaii, for the second senatorial district of the Territory of Hawaii, of the name of H. A. Baldwin as a candidate for Senator, and of the names of John Wilcox, Edward Waiholo, P. J. Goodness, A. F. Ta-

SHINGLE MAKES PREDICTION ON KAUAI VOTING

"I am willing to make the unqualified prophecy that Kuhio will be given a bigger vote on Kauai this year than he got two years ago," declared R. W. Shingle, chairman of the Republican Territorial Central Committee, today. Mr. Shingle, Delegate Kuhio and R. W. Breckons returned today from Kauai, where they toured the island on a political campaigning trip, and the Republican sentiment is so strong and growing so fast that the Territorial chairman feels confident of the result. Starting at Kekaha, the trip was a succession of Republican triumphs, ending with a big luan at Hanalei, where they departed from last night.

The entire Kauai corps of candidates made the trip with the Territorial headliners and Mr. Shingle said that the Republican party bids fair to sweep all the island election.

Kuhio will leave tomorrow on the Waialeale for Maui, where he will spend most of next week, going from there to Hawaii, spending several days there and returning here on October 28 to wind up the campaign on Oahu.

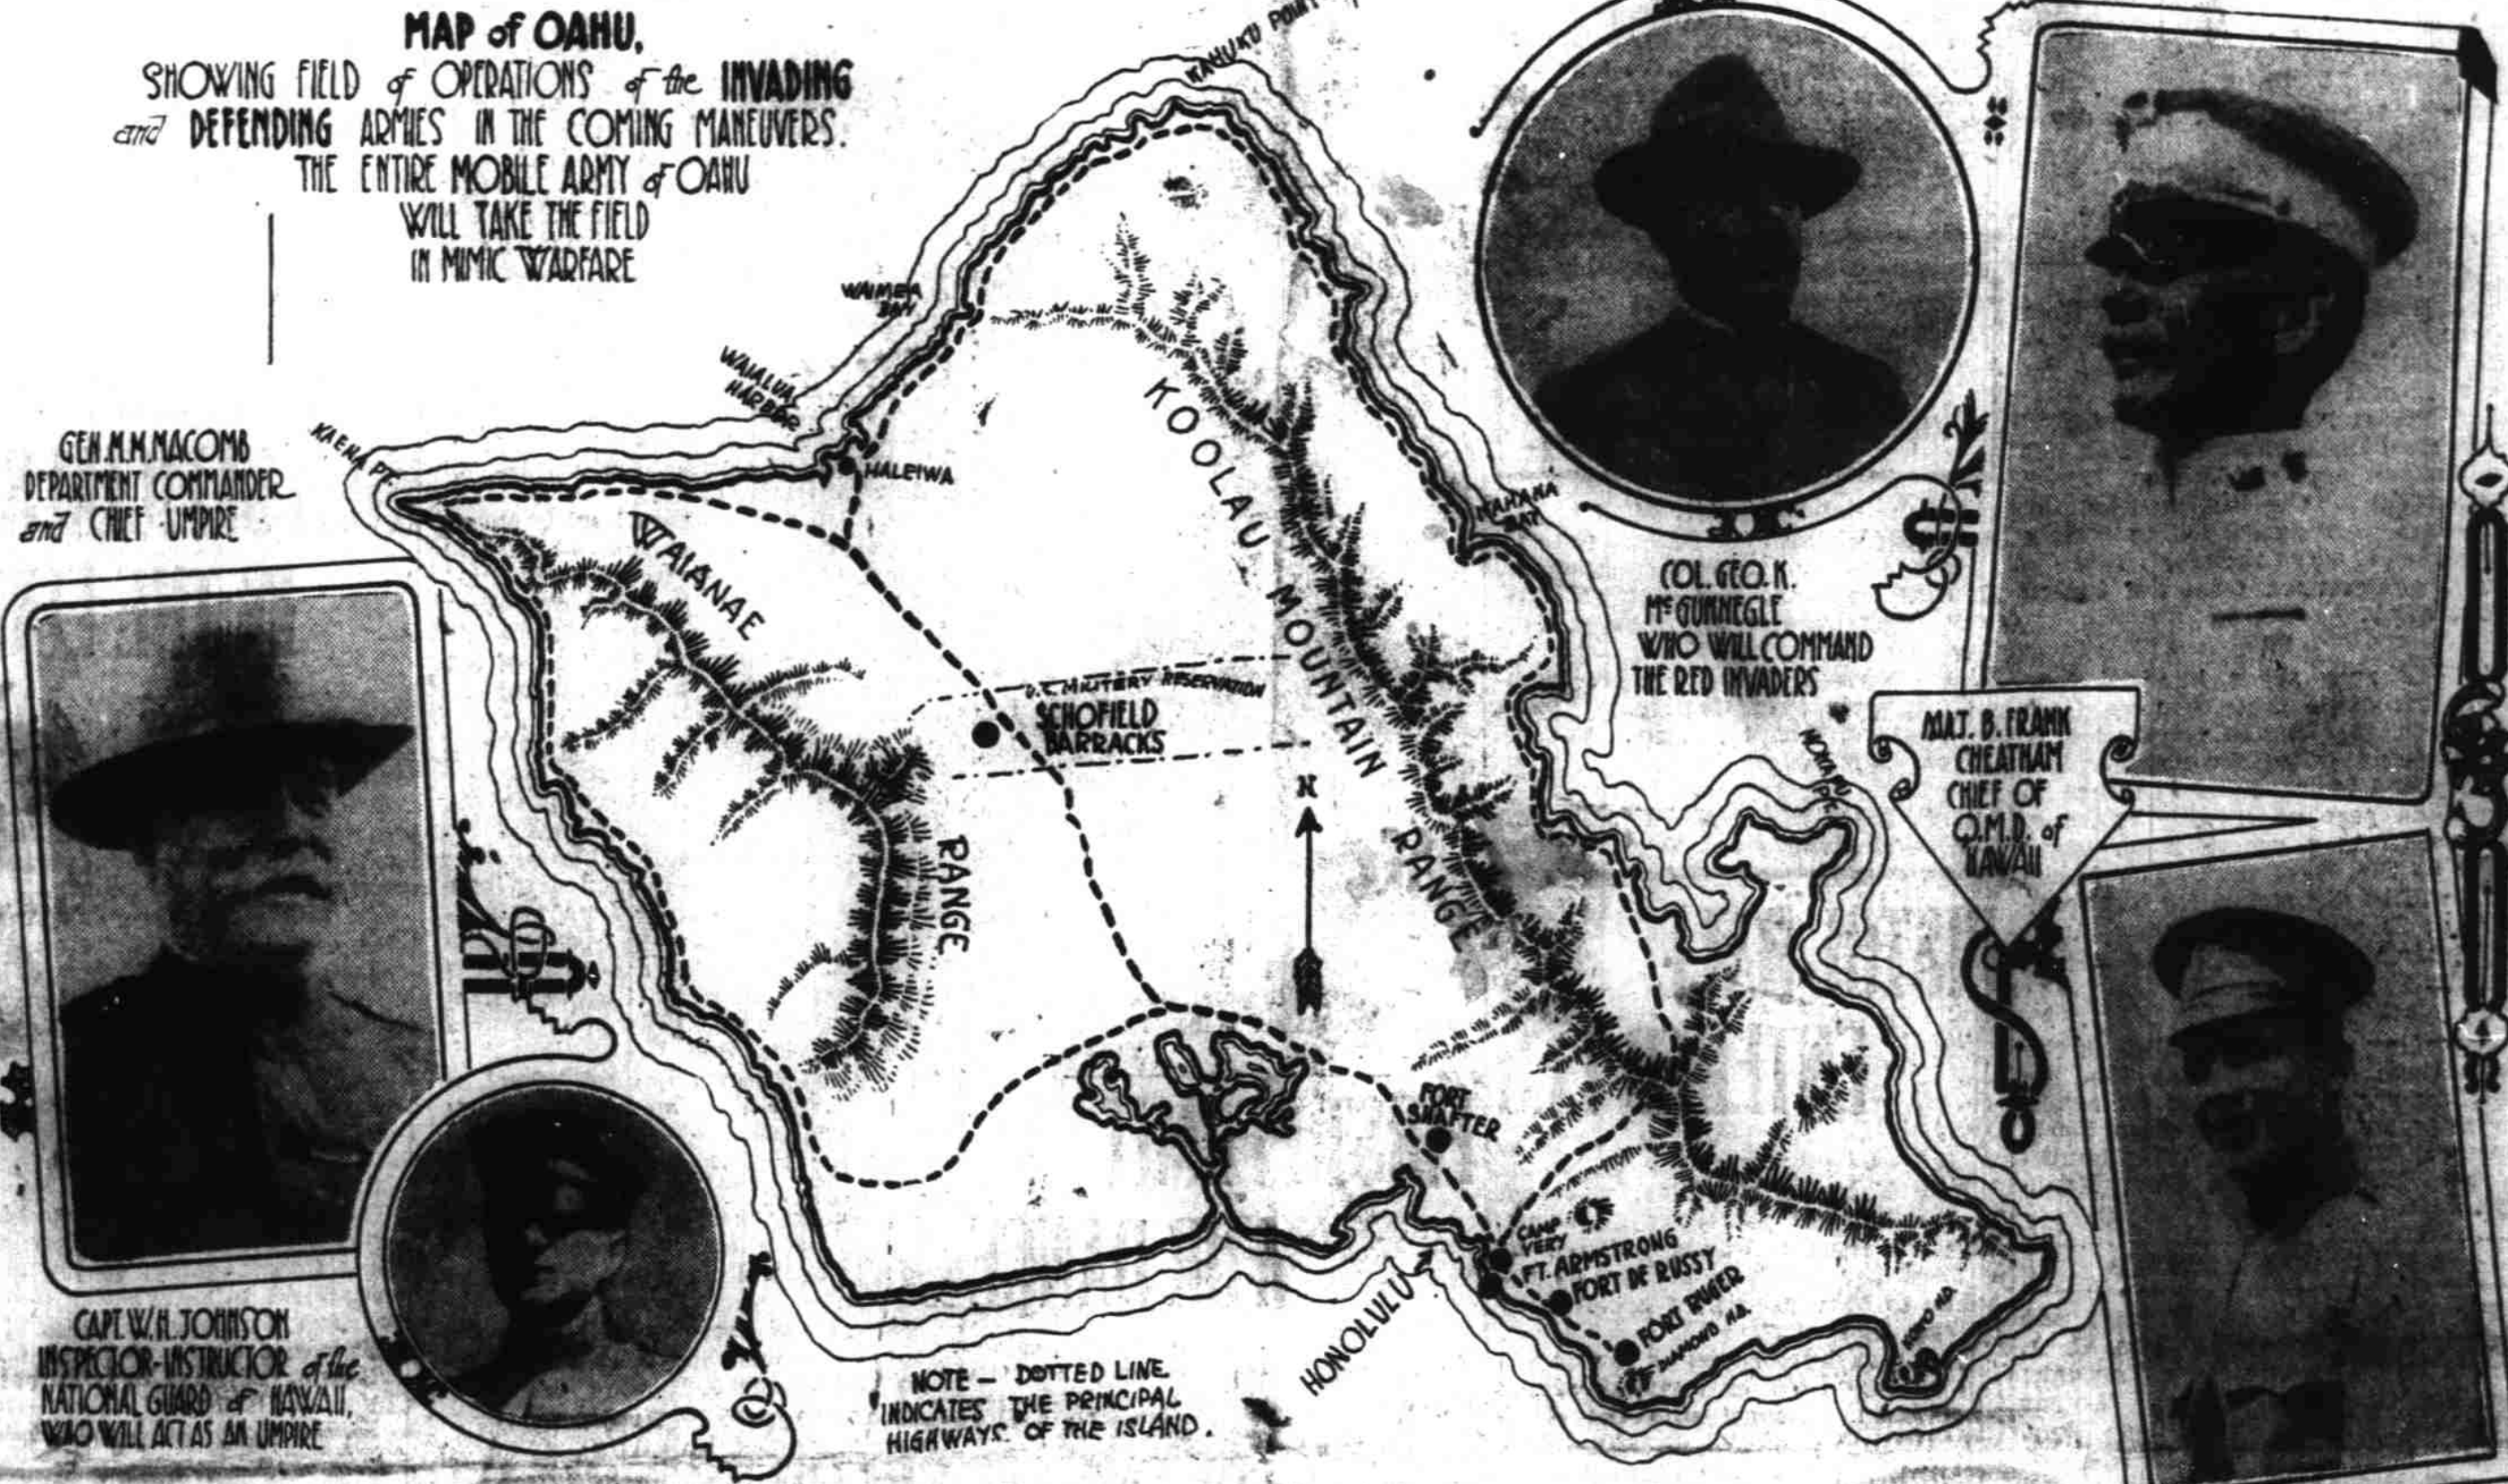

Forty-five thousand barrels fuel oil and nearly one thousand cases of petroleum have been discharged from the American tanker Santa Maria and that vessel is ready for sea. This tanker may get away for the coast this evening or tomorrow.

RED INVADERS WILL CLASH WITH BLUE DEFENDERS ON OAHU HILLS

MAP OF OAHU, SHOWING FIELD OF OPERATIONS OF THE INVADING AND DEFENDING ARMIES IN THE COMING MANEUVERS. THE ENTIRE MOBILE ARMY OF OAHU WILL TAKE THE FIELD IN MIMIC WARFARE.

October 21 Will Set The Rival Armies Skirmishing Over Island—Entire Force Will Be Engaged In Warfare

One hundred and fifty thousand rounds of blank ammunition will be used with theoretically deadly effect by the Blue and Red armies in the campaign of Oahu that will open October 21. This is the amount asked for by the department, and a cable from division headquarters authorizing the extra expenditure has just been received. Therefore, rifles will pop to good effect during the days that invaders and defenders battle for possession of the island.

Preparations for the inspection-maneuver are going briskly along, but the officers who have the details in charge find few spare moments as the time for taking the field approaches. To turn out the entire mobile army of Oahu is no small undertaking in itself, but when an inspection and a maneuver are combined, with umpires and observers to be provided with mounts, messengers and musicians, and careful plans to keep the armies from contact until the proper time perfected, the task assumes alarming proportions.

Word has been received from division headquarters that all flags, banners and designation marks which were used in the recent California maneuvers had been shipped here, and would be available. The war game is governed by hard and fast rules, which must be observed carefully if any real good is to come of maneuvers. In real warfare a man is down and out when he has a bullet hole through his anatomy, but when blank ammunition is used, questions of range, exposure and other things must be considered. In the first place there must be no doubt as to the identity of bodies of troops that may get contact, and every noncombatant must wear a badge of designation, so that no shots will be wasted on him. It is also necessary for the umpires to call for a cessation of hostilities at frequent intervals, in order to make their rulings.

General Macomb, who will be director of maneuvers and chief umpire as well, will probably establish headquarters on the Schofield reservation, at some convenient point, where both armies will be able to keep in touch with him. Lieut. Col. Archibald Campbell, adjutant general of the department, and the other officers of the departmental staff will also be in the field, so that with the exception of the Engineers and Coast Artillery, all the available soldiery of Oahu will take a hand in the war game.

LOCAL ARMY CHAPLAINS DESIRE MORE UNIFORMS

Not Properly Garbed For Functions They Must Attend in Tropics

Two of the chaplains at Schofield Barracks, Chaplain Pruden of the Second Infantry and Chaplain Feinler of the First Infantry, are taking a leading part in a controversy which is being waged by army clerics through the columns of several service journals.

Chaplain Pruden is the authorized representative of certain chaplains who desire changes in the uniform, and have petitioned the War Department to authorize the same. They believe that the uniform for chaplains is not diversified enough to be suitable for all occasions, and wish more latitude in the way of dress. No sooner was this petition made public than another faction took the field, violently opposed to any changes at all, and even favoring still less insignia of rank and office, and, in fact, everything pertaining to the military, on the ground that it was a hindrance to gaining the confidence of the enlisted men.

Now Chaplain Pruden and Chaplain Feinler come out with a reputation of the arguments of Chaplain Waring of the "opposition," setting forth still further reasons for the new uniform order.

Following are the letters of both the local chaplains, as published in the current issue of the Army and Navy Journal:

Schofield Barracks, H. T., September 10, 1912.
To the Editor of the Army and Navy Journal:

Referring to Chaplain Waring's letter in your issue of August 24, 1912, in reference to certain changes in the uniforms of chaplains, and your editorial comment on the same subject, I desire to say:

I am the authorized representative of the chaplains who desire certain changes in the uniform for chaplains and the author of a petition to the War Department requesting these changes.

Changes desired affect the chaplains only, and they are the best judges as to what effect these changes will have on their efficiency.

The members of the Service at large are not vitally interested in this matter, as it will not affect them in any

CONKLING SAYS BUSINESSMEN MAY NEED DESHA

That the commercial bodies of Honolulu and Hawaii should "make haste slowly" in arriving at a determination to select someone other than Delegate Kuhio's private secretary to represent them at Washington, D. C., is the opinion of Territorial Treasurer Conkling.

He recalls the fact that the one feature which made Geo. McK. McClellan, Kuhio's former private secretary, valuable to the commercial bodies as their personal representative at the national capital, was the very fact that he was officially representing the Delegate. In such capacity he had the privilege of the House, to approach any member at any time, no matter what business might be under consideration, and to enter any and all committee meetings.

Should someone other than the Delegate's private secretary, now Jack Desha, be selected by the business interests to represent them at Washington, he will have no official standing in official circles and have little opportunity to confer with officials except as a lobbyist, pure and simple.

As this is a topic bordering on politics, Conkling declines to discuss it further or make any suggestions as to how it may be remedied. It is merely a problem, he says, that is up to the commercial bodies of the Territory to consider, and which should require some serious and deep thinking.

Three pieces of land aggregating 2.15 acres at Mapulehu, Molokai, were sold at auction at Morgan's office at noon today, under foreclosure of mortgage by M. I. Leonui to Moreno K. Hulu. C. H. Cooke was the purchaser for $200.

G. O. P. RALLY IS TO START BIG CAMPAIGN

All Set for Republican Fire-works at Aala Park Tonight

With R. W. Shingle, chairman of the Republican territorial central committee, pulling the trigger, the opening gun of the Republican campaign in Honolulu will be fired tonight at Aala Park. A big mass meeting, with a rapid fire of short speeches, music and enthusiasm, has been arranged.

B. VON DAMM
Chairman Republican county committee for and J. Walter Doyle, head of the Republican publicity, guarantees that everything will be complete, from the list of Republican portraits, Taft, Kuhio etcetera, that will grace the bandstand, to the list of Republican candidates that will also grace the bandstand.

Campaign thunder has been secured in large quantities and will be turned loose a la carte. In fact, it promises to be the biggest Republican meeting of the campaign except for the monster rally that will close the three weeks of work.

While this is called the formal campaign opening, political work has been going along ever since the convention. Tonight, however, is a general

MONTENEGRIN GENERAL DIES FOR BLUNDER

Desperate at Reproof of King, Bozovitch Commits Suicide

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]
CETTINJE, Montenegro, Oct. 12.—General Bozovitch, leader of the Montenegrin forces, has committed suicide, killing himself following a reproof from the king for having wasted his ammunition. Desperate fighting between the forces continues. One hundred and twenty Montenegrins have been killed and 400 wounded. The Turkish loss is estimated at 600.

SULTAN ASKS SUBJECTS TO DEFEND SACRED SOIL

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12.—The Sultan of Turkey today issued a proclamation urging all of his subjects to "defend the sacred soil soaked with the blood of their ancestors."

"BALD JACK" ROSE TELLS JURY STORY OF MURDER

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Bared in all its hideous sordidness, the story of the plot to kill Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was outlined today to the jury that is sitting in the case against Police Lieutenant Becker, charged with conspiracy in the Rosenthal murder.

It was outlined by "Bald Jack" Rose, the self-confessed go-between for the police and gamblers, and the man who is alleged to have hired the gunmen that shot down Rosenthal in front of the Hotel Metropole.

On the stand today Rose promised to tell "every detail of the most awful plot ever hatched." He testified to the jury that he was Becker's agent in Rosenthal's gambling house, and how he was reporting constantly to Becker. He explained the quarrel between Becker and Rosenthal that resulted in the breaking of their relations.

While the courtroom was hushed in a horrified silence, Rose narrated how he had hired the gunmen through "Big Jack" Zelig, head of one of the tough gangs operating in the underworld. He swore that Becker said to him, "I want Rosenthal murdered—shot—'croaked'—dynamited—anything! Shoot him in front of a policeman. Get it over!"

Rose also told the jury that when

BOSTON IS WINNER AGAIN

Bedient, Youngster, Outpitches Mighty Mathewson and Wins 2 to 1

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 12.—Christy Mathewson, called the greatest pitcher that the great national game has ever seen, held Boston to five hits on the Beaneaters' own grounds today and still could not win for the Giants. Bunching their hits and attack at the right time, the Red Sox got two runs across today while the Giants were held to one run by Bedient, Jake Stahl's clever, young pitcher.

Bedient and Mathewson had a great pitching duel and the young right-hander emerged with the honors, holding the shagging Giants to three hits, while his teammates were setting fires off the veteran. Bedient showed almost as much speed as "Smoky Joe" Wood, and his sharp-breaking curves completely puzzled the New Yorkers.

The fielding was sharp and both teams contributed some sparkling catches, while the speedy work of the infield cut off several hits. Only one error was charged against each team. Myers and Cady caught finely and their work behind the bat was a feature.

By winning today's game, the Red Sox now have a record of three victories and one defeat, and if they can get another game they will win the coveted world's championship. The next game will be in New York on Monday, as no Sunday baseball is played in either of the cities.

The score:
R. H. E.
Boston ..... 2 3 1
New York ..... 0 0 0
Batteries—Bedient and Cady; Mathewson and Myers.

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 12.—The attendance at the game today was 34,593, the receipts being $93,201. Under the world's series rules, the players get no more after yesterday's game. If Boston wins the series, the Red Sox will get $4024 each, twenty-two players participating, while if the Giants win, they will get $3840 each, twenty-three players participating. The losers' end will be therefore either $2683 or $2565.

BEDIENT IS YOUNGSTER WITH SPLENDID RECORD

Hugh Bedient, the young Red Sox pitcher, who, by holding the Giants to three scattered hits has almost clinched Boston's claim to the world's baseball championship, is the young member of Stahl's pitching staff, and is serving his first year of major league ball.

A year ago last spring he was taken with the Boston team on its training trip to the Coast, but was handed over to the Providence club of the then Eastern League before the season was started. At the latter end of the season he was traded to Jersey City, and the Red Sox management had to hand over five players to get him back this year in the Boston fold.

After attracting widespread attention by pitching a twenty-four inning game against the Corry (Pa.) team for his own home team at Falconer, N. Y., striking out forty-two men in the contest, he was secured by the Fall River club of the New England League, coming from there to the Hub in the spring of 1911. He stands six feet one-quarter inch in height, bats and pitches right-handed, was recently married, and lives in Falconer, N. Y.

He informed Becker that murder had been done, the police official replied, "congratulate you."

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Continuing his terrible story this afternoon, Rose described realistically how Becker had viewed the corpse of Rosenthal after the murder had been done, and had said that he would have "cut its squealing tongue out if Whitman (the district attorney) had not been there."

On her showing that she had been deserted by her husband for a period of twenty-three years, Katie Aukai this morning was granted a decree of divorce from Charles Aukai.

Three hundred European sightseers in sixty taxicabs witnessed four of their number badly injured when the car in which they were riding in New York dashed down a steep hill into Riverside Drive and turned turtle.
